Departed Colorado Springs headed for Steamboat Springs on Friday at 9:00 am. At the Black Hawk exit on I70, the truck's water pump went out. Not only did this fail, but it also shredded the serpentine belt. I quickly called the Good Sam Roadside service (they were worthless and offered no help at all). I then unloaded the car from the trailer, and drove into Evergreen to get the needed parts. The water pump was easy enough to take off and install. But trying to install that new serpentine belt ate my lunch!!!! 5 ½ hours later after finally figuring out how to get that belt back on properly and refilling the cooling system I was back on the road with bloody knuckles. There must have been 8 pulleys to get that belt installed properly. The wife even got greasy!
